Troop Goal Setting Worksheet

Girls should discuss what their goal activities will be, then use this worksheet to cost it out and determine an overall goal # of boxes the troop should sell this year. There are 3 parts to every troop's annual cookie goal:

1. All troops have basic costs to take care of, such as Membership dues to GSUSA. Troops could also be bridging and need new uniforms and Girls Guide to Girl Scouting, or they will be finishing a Journey and are ready for the next one. Girls are even more engaged in Girl Scouting when they earn their own way. Figure out your basic needs first.
2. Set the troop's Service Project goal. What are the girls' interests in helping others? Set a charitable goal, either a fixed # of boxes or an overall percent of all boxes sold. The troop will use these funds to fuel their Service Project.
3. Set a common troop goal for fun & learning. How will the troop celebrate their year together? Are they saving towards an international trip in 2 years? What is the plan?

1. Troop Essentials

In some years, the troop only needs their earned awards and some fun patches; other years will be bridging to the next level. Where is your troop? What are their upcoming costs that dues cannot fulfill? Parents are more impressed with Girl Scouting when the girls take charge of the troop's financial needs. Let them show you that they can do it.

2. Service Project

To estimate the amount needed to fund your Service Project, work through the suggested components of the different aspects of the troop's plan. What else will the troop need to make the Service Project lasting and meaningful for both the girls and the recipients? Write out the goal so everyone can think it over and help determine how they will help it become reality.

3. Fun & Learning Goal

Every troop dreams BIG. The power of the Cookie Program fuels those dreams. Here's where their goal setting and money management skills merge to design the fun that only Girl Scouts can have together. Write down the goal so everyone can think it over and help determine how they will help it become reality.

Income Planning

Now that we have planned for the troop's Essential Costs to operate this year, and their Service Project and Fun & Learning Goals, it's time to figure out a sales goal to achieve that goal.

Determine Net Income Needed from Cookies
Start with	Total Costs for your Troop's Basic Needs—Part 1
Add	Total Costs for your Troop's Service Project—Part 2
Add	Total Costs for your Troop's Fun & Learning Goal—Part 3
Subtotal	GRAND TOTAL FOR COOKIE SEASON GOAL SETTING
Subtract	Cookie Dough Earned if Troop achieves the Troop PGA Goal ($15 per participating girl)
Subtract	How much money is already in the troop bank account that is available towards these costs?
Subtract	How much income do you anticipate from other approved money-earning activities?
Equals	Cookie Program Goal Dollars
Divide	Amount Earned per Box ($.95 or $.1.05)
Subtotal	Troop Box Goal this year
Divide	# of Girls Selling this Season
Equals	Troop PGA (Per Girl Average) Goal

Cookie Season Goal Commitment

The goals are set and you now know what is needed to fund and achieve those super fun activities that the girls want to do. The last step is to discuss the level of commitment that each troop member will pledge towards the common goals. Each girl differs in her ability to sell cookies—that's OK! The focus is to guide her to that commitment level and help her stay on track towards it.
