Is your Girl Scout troop yearning for the great outdoors, but having trouble getting its act together? Then First Time Out could open the fun and easy world of the outdoors to you, your girls and other leaders.

WHAT IS IT?

First Time Out (FTO) is for leaders who have completed their Indoor Overnight and Camping Skills Trainings and wish to take their girls on an overnight or for those who still feel insecure about taking their girls camping.

Girl Scout Troops and leaders will receive the necessary help to survive an outdoor overnight and love it. First Time Out is an excellent opportunity for hands on assistance to prepare you for the wonderful world of camping.

First Time Out is not required by the council for troops to participate in outdoor programs. Troop leaders who have had Indoor Overnight and Camping Skills training are qualified for troop camping. Troops must bring an adult First-Aider.

During this event, the trainers provide support and guidance; troops are responsible for their own food, equipment and activities.
